Correcting breast asymmetry can be life-changing for my patients. In this case, I performed a reduction on the right side, and on the left side a mastopexy (breast lift) combined with fat transfer for improved balance and contour.

Every woman's anatomy and goals are unique, and I tailor my approach to achieve natural, harmonious results that fit her body beautifully. This is Beauty for Wellness.

Thinking About Surgery?

Fall is the perfect time to start planning

Here's Why >

Timing Matters

Consultations often book out weeks to months ahead, and surgery spots fill quickly.

Starting now ensures you get the timeline you want—without the stress of last-minute scheduling.

Why Winter Surgery Is Ideal For Most Patients

Winter is naturally a season with more time indoors and fewer social commitments, making it an easier time to focus on recovery.

By planning surgery in the winter, you'll be healed and confident just in time to enjoy spring and summer events, vacations, and celebrations.

Your First Step Into Confidence

Your consultation is where we begin this journey together.

I'll listen to your goals, answer your questions, and design a personalized plan just for you.

By starting now, we can secure the timeline that works best for your life.
